Living Well Pathway for Dementia with Sensory Loss* - 'Assessment'

Preventing Well

Sight loss in dementia?

More here.

Tips for eye tests here
A short video on Peak

Hearing and sight loss in dementia – read more

Regular hearing tests in persons over 50; read more here.

Your hearing, and dementia; read more here.

Regular hearing tests will help to catch any decline early and respond appropriately

A short video on HearCheck

Diagnosing Well

A functional assessment checklist can be found here

What does the evidence say about self-tests?
Read more here, and here.

Access MoCA screening tools for professionals here.

Other tests used include; HASK, and GLASK.

Glasgow Hearing Aid Benefit Profile Part 1 and Part 2

Qualitative exploration of dementia and vision impairment here

Systematic Review of hearing loss in older adults here

Diagnosing Well

Click here for international guidelines on recognizing & treating sensorial loss in dementia patients.

Click 1, ,2 or 3 for a dementia, hearing, or vision clinician's guide, respectively.

Click here to read how professionals across the globe view assessment and care of patients with agerelated hearing, vision and cognitive impairment.

Living Well

This document outlines the standard of care for sight loss and dementia

Summary of research papers here

Read more here on the role of meeting patients' vision needs in fall prevention.

Getting hearing aids

Click here for a short video on hearing aid maintenance

Who Can Help Me?

Alzheimer's Society of Ireland

Lewy Body Ireland

Alzheimer Europe

Alzheimer's Association, US

Lewy Body Dementia
Association

Alzheimer's Society UK

- Sensory impairment
- Hearing and sight loss

RNIB

RNID

The Lewy Body Society

Dementia Australia

Associations in Greece:

Materia

Ithaki

Archengelos Michael

Agios Therapon

Reference: Idea for informative poster taken from NH ementia Well Pathway